(Special Food Expert of The Evening World.)
The close of the week marked the Month of the leading chain stores and lamb and retaillers are generally selling to the rest of the many world.

The close of the week marked the Month of the leading chain stores and deciline of creamery butter to $61-20 eags last Friday and Saturday at the feeding of the retailers are rearrely taking over of sealing over the more of 30 dozen each, and if consumers of 50 dozen each, and if consumers

500,000, but the same is true of scores of other items of food. Besides, the influence of the campaign for fair prices extended to the Alleghanies. WHY NEW YORK PAYS HIGH FOOD PRICES.

It may be news to the consumers who are objecting to the abnormal cost of vegetables and other perishables to know that New York has only one dock and part of another where perishable products can be protected during the extreme cold weather. The writer found millions of dollars' worth of various foods piled up on the Jersey terminals in Thousands and them! piled up on the Jersey terminals in indescribable confusion and criminal waste. An appeal was made to the local Federal Administrator, and he could not believe that such conditions existed, but was too busy to go and see for himself. I begged him to let me have a photographer to get views and then he could see for himself. I begged him to be the could see for himself. self. I brought the photographer over to Jersey and got five different views which showed crates of chickens and other poultry that had perished, and everything heaped up topsy-turvy in endless confusion. The pictures were promised to the news-papers, but were withheld, as the President of the express company that dumped and wasted the foods claimed that "the conditions at the Jersey City terminals were normal." A Government report, then issued, estimated the loss to the Southern farmers at over $880,000. The frozen vegetables were dumped on the offal docks and the farmers that raised and sent the vegetables here only got Potatoes are higher again this week, but the retail prices paid by consumers should not be over $e for oil and 10% a pound for new Florida potatoes.
